As companies, we have worked together side by side during the toughest of times and we could vouch for Founders Media, The Global Social Media Management & Consultancy based in London, as being one of the most open-minded, dynamic, inclusive, exploratory, effective, result-oriented, resourceful, charming, exceptional, ambitious and best-bang-for-the-buck Consultants we have ever worked with. In fact, the experience has been a lot more like a continuous collaboration between our two firms. Perhaps our Video Podcast on "Climate Change and Future Trends in Architecture & Urbanism" best exemplifies our relationship as this joint effort helps to highlight a special cause closest to our hearts. Through working with Founders Media, we have learned Social Media could be so much more than just posting provocative images on Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn and other similar platforms. It's exciting to realize that it could also include incisive, radical, even poignant views on critical issues that matter most to our zeitgeist whilst possibly implanting new ideas which may become impactful to our post-cyber culture in 2021 and beyond." - Alexander Wong, Director & CEO of Alexander Wong Architects
